

Strengthen and Protect Your IT Assets with Central Iowa's Leading Managed IT Provider

In the construction sector, responsiveness and adaptability to change are what are critical capabilities. Whether you lead a general contractor, subcontractor, homebuilder, commercial construction company or remodeling firm, it's essential that your IT operations and systems remain available at all times.

Material planning, labor and subcontractor management, job costing and customer communication are all must-haves every day, in the office and on the job site.

That is why Dymin offers a comprehensive Managed IT solution tailored to the construction industry environment. We understand that your business doesn't just take place in an office, and that your operations may extend beyond your own employees. We know you need always-on mobile capabilities and a skilled team that understands your system configuration, security needs and user requirements intimately.

Why Work with Dymin?

Dymin is your Central Iowa partner for proven expertise in managed IT and can support your needs day-in and day-out, at a lower total cost than traditional 'break-fix' IT services. Gain the benefits of working with a team that can:

Assess your IT environment and recommend critical enhancements

Support your technologies from desktop to mobile, for all of your enterprise applications

Manage and protect your network, assets and data with cybersecurity solutions built in

Administer your mobile device management (MDM) program effectively and consistently

Ensure that you maintain current, fully supported versions of all core applications

Develop and deploy a long-term strategy for building your enterprise IT infrastructure

The result will be a stronger network, better uptime and a better technology environment upon which to build your construction business.

What is Managed IT?

Managed IT (also known as Managed Service Provider, or MSP, delivery), is a revolutionary approach to business information technology that seeks to improve reliability, improve customer support and lower costs. Managed IT achieves this by providing a full-service outsourced IT management capability at a fixed rate on a subscription basis. This enables you to gain the benefits of both proactive support (a team that looks out for your IT needs today and in the future), and responsive support (when something needs attention), from one reliable partner.

"We have used Dymin Systems as our IT consultant for many years. They have always been responsive to our requests for assistance and have given us valuable suggestions regarding hardware upgrades. Their employees are always friendly and helpful. We value our relationship with them very much."
